

Another First For GCRM-Belfast

Advanced Male Fertility Service

Following the launch of the advanced male fertility service at GCRM-Belfast, we are pleased to announce Northern Ireland's first pregnancy using a highly specialised surgical sperm retrieval technique (MicroTESE). This method, which is only available in a few centres across the UK, has allowed many men the opportunity to become biological parents, when previously, treatment using donor sperm was their only option. In collaboration with The Ulster Independent Clinic, local Consultant Urologist Mr John McKnight and Mr Kevin McEleny, a nationally recognised expert in the management of Male Infertility, we are able to offer this unique service locally. For more information on this or other male fertility issues please contact GCRM-Belfast on 02890 781335 (<http://www.gcrmbelfast.com/treatments-and-pricing/advanced-male-fertility-service>).
